- 1. Authorship Responsibility: I/We hereby affirm that I/We have significantly contributed to the intellectual content, including the conception, design, data analysis, and manuscript preparation of this work. I/We take full public responsibility for its content and agree to be acknowledged as an author.
- 2. Originality and Exclusivity: I/We declare that this manuscript is original and has not been published, nor is it under consideration for publication elsewhere, except as noted in the cover letter. All data collected in the course of this study are accurately represented in the manuscript, and no additional data have been or will be published separately.
- 3. Rights and Distribution: By signing this agreement, the author accepts responsibility for releasing the content on behalf of all co-authors. This agreement includes granting the publisher the non-exclusive right to reproduce and distribute the article across various formats (reprints, translations, electronic forms, etc.). However, the author retains the copyright of the content while transferring all publishing and licensing rights to the publisher.
- 4. Disclosure of Interests: Any potential financial interests, whether direct or indirect, that may exist in connection with the content of this manuscript have been disclosed in the cover letter.
- 5. Self-Archiving Rights: Authors are permitted to archive a personal version of their manuscript on their own website or within institutional repositories.
